this volume is an engaging and provocative introduction to feminist biblical studies the authors draw upon their own social cultural and religious backgrounds and experiences in reading the new testament as feminists in the context of globalization they provide intentional interpretations of biblical texts that cast gender race class and power relationships as issues inherent in both the content and context of scripture and its interpretation the essays call into question feminist social engagement that does not extend beyond academic halls churches and christians suggesting directions for future research and teaching in feminist biblical studies joseph a marchal leads a group of scholars who are also experienced teachers in courses on paul more than a series of how to essays in interpretation each chapter in this volume shows how differences in starting point and interpretive decisions shape different ways of understanding paul each teacher scholar focuses on what a particular method brings to interpretation and applies that method to a text in paul s letters aiming not just at the beginning student but at the tough choices every teacher must make in balancing information with critical reflection domestic abuse is a horror it lurks beneath the surface of our collective existence sometimes raising its ugly head where least expected in the church or within families of faith are we individually or collectively ready to respond what can or should congregations and their pastoral leaders do and as we survey the christian landscape across the united states and canada are we as the community of faith stepping up to the challenge presented by violence in the family there is no easy answer to the problems that surface when abuse impacts the christian family but each of the authors contributing to this volume believes fervently that it is imperative that followers of jesus and their spiritual shepherds respond to the cries for help to respond well necessitates both knowledge and a willingness to act this book is here to help it represents a collective effort to bring all of us a step farther in our journey of walking with christ over a sea of troubled waters none of us know as much as we should but all of us can learn from one another throughout the collection we provide an opportunity to examine a diversity of perspectives with the hope that each will in some way advance our understanding of the complexity of domestic violence issues in our midst within our churches and the communities where our churches minister
